WHAT THEY SAY.

The Papers All Over the State Discuss the Result of the Primary.

Various Comments of the Press Complimentary to Both Candidates.

HURRAH FOR MONTGOMERY.

SHAME AVOIDED

It appears from the returns received from Saturday's primaries that Hendricks has beaten St. Mary's. The Congressional nomination in the First district, and Congressman Montgomery won his fight against Murray in the Fourth. The nomination of Montgomery is a tribute that the Congressmen evidently deserved, otherwise he could not have attained the prominence he enjoys in the Nation's councils. It would have been a shame to have retired him, and we are glad he people would not permit the disappointed to dominate and have selected him to succeed himself—Danville Advocate.

BALLY TO THE NOMINEE.

In keeping with the brave fight he put up against overwhelming odds, Hon. D. R. Murray tends through The Times his service to the Democratic party and its nominee in the Fourth district, and calls upon his many faithful and enthusiastic followers during the late campaign to rally to the support of Mr. Montgomery and the political principles for which he stands. Hon. J. W. Lewis, the Republican leader of a former hope, will again disavow in November that Democratic outcasts do not add to the dimmer or happiness of the rats—Louisville Times.

INS VS OUTS

The sacrifice of D. Murray by the disaffected and disgraced revenue office seekers teaches one lesson, and that is that the "ins" have more influence than the "outs" and when you stir them up, they simply put a bonfire in motion—Hawesville Plaindealer.

MADE MANY FRIENDS.

Hon. David R. Murray, after the court house here last Friday night to a large and enthusiastic audience. His speech was one of the best and that has been delivered here for many years and the applause given him was long and prolonged. Although Mr. Murray was defeated in his race for Congress, he has made many friends during his canvass, who appreciate his real motives for the campaign. He accepts his defeat like a man and will go into the political field in behalf of Mr. Montgomery—Springfield News-Leader.

FIGHT ON HIGH POINTS.

The Hon. D. R. Murray has nothing of which to be ashamed in his contest for the Democratic nomination in the Fourth. Comparatively unknown in a large portion of the district, he made a fight on high points. Antagonized by the powers backed by the machine, if they could see, he made a strictly legitimate fight, and was defeated by less than 1,500 votes in a district that cast over 17,000 Democratic votes. In view of the fact that there is at least 1,000 voters in the district with an organized force of Government employees to "whop 'em up" for Montgomery, Mr. Murray need not feel humiliated at the result—Marion Falcon.

LOST NOTHING.

Saturday's primary ended a long and warm contest for the nomination of the Democratic candidate for Congress in this district. The Democratic party has lost nothing by Mr. Murray's defeat. That Mr. Montgomery was the choice of the people was clearly evinced by the overwhelming majority he received. Mr. Murray is an elegant gentleman in every respect, but few men have ever come out of a political fight with a record as clean as his in this one. As to Mr. Montgomery we could say nothing but the same of him. He made his fight upon his merits, his record since he came to the House has been a good one, and shows that he is a man of ability, and worthy of the trust placed in him—Springfield News-Leader.

CLEAN RACE.

Hon. David R. Murray made a clean and honorable race for Congress, and although defeated, he has won the respect of all Democrats and the highest esteem of many of our best citizens. A con parative stranger in a large part of the district he had less than sixty days to make a canvass of thirteen counties. His defeat is no disgrace and he and his friends will show the stuff they are made of by voting for Judge Hendricks at the November election. Judge Montgomery and his friends had the result of the primary been reversed—Elizabethtown News.

THEY'LL ALL ANSWER IT.

Hon. David R. Murray has a card in the News this week which has the Democratic ring. He does not complain of his defeat or bring any charges against his opponent, as is so often the case with the defeated candidate, but like the honorable man he is, he calls on his friends to stand by the principles of Democracy and work and vote for his successful opponent, Judge Montgomery, and his friends will certainly appreciate this manly call and no true friend of Dave Murray's will fail to answer it election day in November—Elizabethtown News.

IS NOT SURE.

Mr. Murray made a creditable race; he showed himself a gentleman and is no less so now, since he is defeated, nor is his Democracy soiled over the result. His friends now Montgomery's friends will properly and promptly meet any insinuation to the contrary—Lafayette County Herald.

WHO HAD WE BEEN GOOD DEMOCRATS?

We are pleased to hear some of the warmest of Lafayette County's supporters of Mr. Murray say openly that they are now as heartily for Mr. Montgomery as they were for Mr. Murray previous to the primary election. No Democrat could be otherwise and still be a Democrat. We have no idea that Democrats will do otherwise than support the nominee to a man, but it is pleasant to hear this said openly by Murray supporters. It shows they are the right kind of Democrats, their open, frank manner of making the avowal proves that they are men that can be relied upon. A man that will take part in a primary election and refuse to support the nominee is a very poor kind of Democrat—one that does the party more harm than good—and he reflects no credit upon himself by so doing—Lafayette County Herald.

ADORATION AND DISAPPOINTMENT.

It is with admiration for the man on the part of Democrats and disappointment on the part of Republicans that Mr. David R. Murray's card in this issue will be read. Mr. Murray is now for Montgomery and we want all other Democrats to vote and to work for him—Lafayette County Herald.

LIGHTNING STRUCK US.

"We have met the enemy, and we are victors." So be it. We had made our arrangements to write a glowing eulogy on the extraordinary election shown by the Democracy of the Fourth district in selecting Hon. D. R. Murray as their champion to down the Republican nominee on the 15th of November next, but lightning struck us on Saturday, and as soon as we recovered from the stunning effect, the entire current of our previous inclination was changed. We had come for the "ins" and "outs" and "agin" any man that is "agin" him. Thank heaven, we haven't got any crow to eat. We differ with Mr. Montgomery to have us to get to the same point in public policy, but it is on matters of detail. We are still for a tariff for revenue only. We are for a graded income tax, to tax the revenues of the wealthy, and to curb the accumulation of such enormous fortunes as menace the prosperity of the people, and the perpetuity of republican government. We are in favor of ending the volume of currency by the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and the repeal of the 10 per cent. tax on State banks, thereby restoring to the States the power to protect their own citizens against financial panics brought on by the power of money lenders to concentrate their money in a few favored centers in the north, to contract the currency and oppress the poor people of the country. These were the laws that the last National Democratic Convention directed its candidates to stand up to in force in order to give us an economical Government, and to furnish a flexible currency that would be, what our money was designed to be, a medium of exchange, and not a commodity in which to speculate on its increase or decrease in value. Some Democrats who are elected on this platform have violated their instructions and should be relegated to the rear forever. But Mr. Montgomery is not one of these, and in this he owes his nomination. His Republican adversary, the man who stands by his party platform, will advocate the reverse of all these propositions. The laws that were made by the Republican party are in force today, and have reached their logical conclusion. The Eastern syndicates have control of the currency. They have succeeded the dollar class until they have been compelled to throw their estates on the market, regardless of price, and as a consequence all kinds of property, except money and promises to pay, have dropped one half in value. At the wind up the capitalists will own the property and the money too, unless, by an expansion of the currency, they are compelled to let up. Perhaps the majority of the Democracy are right in this district, and at this time honesty rather than extraordinary ability should be a prerequisite. Vote for Montgomery in November—Marion Falcon.

WHO EVER ESTIMATED THAT WE WOULDN'T?

Like good Democrats that they are the Murray supporters all clear away the debris and make a strong fight for the Congressional nominee. The family fight has been adjusted, and now party principles are the only standard by which the Democratic family will join together, and after the November election John Lewis will explain: "Where am I at?"—Hendlin Independent.

Many thanks to Sirocco for the compliment paid our ball club in last week's issue. It is true that their appearance are not deceptive, they are fine gentlemanly fellows as well as fine looking. But we think you might have said something equally as nice about our girls too. You know you never saw any prettier girls than ours, and you might have given them a "putt" at the same time.

Oh! no, Sirocco, you needn't think that they were introduced to us at the picnic. We saw you when you came, and "knewed" you, too, as soon as you saw us "not" eyes on you. And, never mind, the next time we see you you place we won't stand on ceremony, but will just say, "This is us, that's what you ain't it," and you'll say, "Yes," and then we'll be acquainted.

We saw a great many people at that picnic, but I soon tired of the speaking machine. It was "hard times" all the way through. I saw how much of that at home, that when I go out for a day of recreation, I don't like to have it dinned in my ears. And, that Mr. Arnold, I thought I would like to hear what he had to say. He began by reading from the platforms, of both, the Democratic and Republican parties and proceeded to show how they had both failed to keep their pledges to the people, and what oppressive laws they had enacted. I listened awhile, but I was too obtuse to see how the election of Mr. Arnold would help to secure better legislation. Mr. Arnold, no doubt, is a finely cultured gentleman, and would make a good clerk, but I don't know against him, I think that he might as well run against the Ohio river as against popular Dick Nevitt.

I agree with Mr. Avitt that people should write more on the subject of education. Why not have an "Educational Column" in the News? There are many able educators in the county, that might contribute, and as everybody reads the "News" no one can estimate the benefit that would result. That much desired object—affinity—between parent and teacher, might be secured. I do not have reference to a column in which teachers might air their knowledge on subjects embraced in the common school curriculum, but rather one in which the experienced teacher could tell of plans which he has adopted in his school and found satisfactory. It is not the best qualified teacher that always proves to be the best teacher. It is the one that understands the best methods of presenting knowledge to pupils. That is no teacher who simply goes to the school house and tells the children to study, and then when the class takes the book and asks the question he finds therein printed. If the pupil happens to answer them it is all right, if not the teacher answers for him. The pupil will make rapid progress with such teaching, he will very likely "work" through the Arithmetic in a very short time (an accomplishment of which he never ceases to boast,) and will know just about as much of the principles of Arithmetic at the close of the term as he did at the beginning. Teachers do not make such a close friend of the text book. Dissipate that idea from the pupils mind that the teacher he reads through his reader the number he is. Make him understand that there are many things to be learned besides what his reader contains. Have daily drills for all pupils who are able to read and write, on all the common school branches, teaching them from the blackboard, beginning with the most simple elements of each. You will probably hear complaints in your district, that you are not "hearing" enough lessons. The parents may think that because their children are not "racking" their brains at reciting last Monday's recitation, that they are not learning. But, invite the parents to your school, let them see how hard you are working, and they will soon be convinced that your plan is best. The parents don't know what real encouragement it was to both teacher and pupil for them to visit the school and show their interest, that they would come often.

THE MOUNTAIN LABORED.

And It Brought Fourth Death and Destruction to a State of Colombia.

About 1½ miles from the town of Rio Blanco, state of Canca, Colombia, a remarkable geological phenomenon has recently created great excitement. A mountain ridge, called Cerro de Cruz Luna, suddenly came a large part of its upper levels into neighboring rivers, carrying death and destruction in its wake.

For some days before prolonged subterranean rumblings—a sort of hoarse rattle and roar—were heard, indicating that something serious was about to occur, and on the date mentioned the upper part of the hill suddenly caved in, the enormous quantity of earth descending and obstructing the course of the rivers Guachico, Molino and others. It is feared that the overflow of the rivers will occasion an extensive inundation, or, that, breaking away the earth dam, whole villages and valuable properties will be destroyed. As an immediate result of this occurrence 12 persons were killed, besides a large number of horses and cattle.

It seems only natural to attribute this phenomenon to the eruption of the Sotara volcano, which for some time has been observed to be covered with snow. The Spanish government, in view of this occurrence, justly alarmed by this government, has appointed a commission of engineers to investigate the matter.

THE PLAGUE BACILLUS.

It is Different From Any Ever Before Found in the Human Body.

The news that no fewer than 150,000 persons have been swept away by the plague in the district of Canton gives interest to the results of the scientific investigation of the disease which have just been received here. Two Japanese experts who have been studying for some time at the Koch Institute were sent by their government to make inquiries.

They report that the period of incubation is from two to seven days. This is followed by prostration with high fever, and in some cases by convulsions. Physicians declare that they identified the plague bacillus, which is different from any ever before found in the human body. They describe it as slender, straight and stiff. It deviates all the principal internal organs.

Experiments in breeding plague bacilli and inoculating animals with virus invariably produce within two days death under symptoms of the plague. Dr. Kitasato, being satisfied there is no other alternative but that either the bacilli or the patient must die, is on the lookout for bactericides, but it is too early to expect definite conclusions—London Cor. New York Sun.

THE RETURN COURTESY.

In the course of the debate on the bill to amend railway postal clerks Mr. W. J. Shackleton, last week, gave the benefit of his knowledge of the experience in the postal service as far as appointments in the civil service were concerned. He thought that if the bill were amended so as to require the old employees to pass an examination and grade 50 per cent. of the district clerks, clerks, who of course, were all Democrats, would come within 1,000 miles of getting back.

"The gentleman is a distinguished member of congress," said Mr. Shackleton. "Does he think that he could pass the examination required to enter the railway postal service?"

"I think so," said Mr. Grosvener, "if the gentleman from West Virginia had put the question."—Washington Post.

In Squire Hamilton's court, last Saturday, R. C. Mattingly of Baltimore, was fined $5 for committing a breach of the peace several days ago, by stopping Squire Joe Mullin on the public highway and using angry, insolent and abusive words. The trial was very amusing, as Mr. Mattingly appeared himself considerably while on the witness stand. The proof was to show that he was drunk, but the court thought it sufficient to justify him in assuming the minimum fine in such cases. All of Baltimore were present on witnesses and they all claimed their attendance, making the entire cost to Mr. Mattingly $20.00.

PICKED UP.

The picnic given in Minor's Grove last Saturday, for the benefit of Holt Chapel, was a decided success in every feature. It was a large and representative crowd, orderly and civil, and the day was spent pleasantly by all present, notwithstanding the heat. The only disappointment was that Gen. Harlin, who was expected to be present and speak failed to put in his appearance. There were many who came from a long distance to hear the great orator and statesman and the next Governor of Kentucky. The proceeds of the picnic were $25. The most pleasing feature, and one that is rarely witnessed in this day of strong prejudices and petty bickerings among churches, was that both Protestants and Catholics joined hands and contributed their means and worked hard to make the affair a success.

After the picnic a gay party of young ladies and gentlemen met at the hospitable home of Mr. Julius Duttschke and were entertained at tea. In the absence of their parents, Messrs. Fred and August and Miss Mary Duttschke were masters of ceremonies. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent. Those present about $75. The most pleasing feature, and one that is rarely witnessed in this day of strong prejudices and petty bickerings among churches, was that both Protestants and Catholics joined hands and contributed their means and worked hard to make the affair a success.
